SHOW RESULTS
by Doug Akers

The Central Indiana Poultry Show has experienced major growth in each of its four years of existence. The October 16th, 2010 event featured 1656 birds from 209 exhibitors. The Junior Show has grown to one of the largest in the country with over 100 exhibitors and 668 birds. Fifty-two (52) youth participated in showmanship.

Organizers moved the Junior Show to a newly built large building which permitted all single decking and wide aisles. The Open Show expanded to two buildings due to growth in numbers and to maintain an excellent show experience for exhibitors with all single decking and six-foot wide aisles.

Open show judges were Jeff Halbach from Wisconsin, Paul Monteith from Ontario, Canada and Gary Overton from Ohio. Junior Show judges were Clell Agler, Greg Chamness, Lou Horton, and Brad Jones. Showmanship judges were Tylor Murray and Lou Horton. All judging was complete prior to 3:00 PM.

Join us for the 5th Annual Central Indiana Poultry Show on Saturday, October 15th, 2011. Open show judges will be Tim Bowles, Ohio; Butch Gunderson, Wisconsin, and Matt Lhamon, Ohio. See open show photos of all Champions and Reserve Champions from the 2010 Central Indiana Poultry Show at our website, http://www.poultryshow.org
The primary objective of our club is to encourage and help our young members to acquire the knowledge, skills and experience to participate fully and effectively in the poultry fancy as an adult. The club promotes opportunities to practice showmanship, cooperation and fellowship and to be involved with their home community and with the poultry fancy in general.

The Youth Program
Founded in 1995

How did it come together?
A group of people knew there was a need for a special club just for juniors all across the United States. They had several meetings and worked together to put a plan in place. The original members of this committee were, Lamar Stephenson (credited as the father of the organization) who represented the ABA and was the first executive secretary, Glen Cryer represented the ABA and was Chairman of the committee, Barbara Piper and Al Watts both represented the APA. Once a plan was in place, Larry Peterson, President of the ABA, and Bart Pals, President of the APA were added as committee advisors and David Adkins representing the Southern Ohio Poultry Association came on board financially sponsoring the program. Without the hard work of this group of people the vision of a poultry club for young exhibitors may not exist. We owe them a debt of gratitude for their foresight. The first National Director/Coordinator were Mike and Janet Miller, Ohio, from 1995-2002.

What is the ACE program?
A stands for Activities
C stands for Competition
E stands for Education

To achieve levels members must participate in poultry related activities. This means exhibiting birds at fairs and/or open shows requires the members to have a good basic knowledge of poultry. The APA-ABA Youth Program requires a mandatory notebook at all levels from the Pee Wee level to the Flock Master level. It’s not necessary to purchase a premade note book, you can put together your own. It’s a recording of your achievements in all three (3) categories that can be checked for points by your state leader or the national director.

National Show Awards
From The Youth Program
By Doris Robinson

Our club is now awarding a National Award at the ABA and the APA Nationals and semi-annuals. You can win a National Champion Bracelet (gold and silver) or a National Champion Neck Medallion.

The youth that wins Champion Bantam Chicken and Champion Bantam Waterfowl at the ABA National or Semi-National Show will receive these awards.

At the APA Nationals or Semi-Nationals will win in these classes: Champion Large Fowl chicken, Champion Waterfowl, Champion Turkey, and Champion Guinea. The bracelets are certainly an eye catcher, they are big, they are shiny and stand out like the gold and silver they are. It was fun to watch some of the adults say they’d like to win them too and even some wanted to purchase them just as mementos. Maybe someday in the future we can also add belt buckles to our list.

I tried to take a photo of the bracelets but no matter what I did or the angle the shine on the bracelets caused a glare so bright you couldn’t see it so I guess you’ll just have to attend one of the National shows to see them in person.

Look on our website in the newsroom to see where the nationals will be held each year. These are fantastic shows to attend and hopefully you’ll get to attend one someday in the future if you haven’t had a chance to do it yet.
INTERVIEWING A JUDGE
By Amanda Penicks, CA
Age: 13

I am completing my Coop Tender workbook and recently had the chance to interview APA/ABA judge and poultry specialist Mr. Jim Adkins. This was done at the Southern California Fair in Lake Perris, CA. I also volunteered to clerk for Mr. Adkins during our youth poultry show. The show took two days to clerk. It was a great opportunity and a good way to learn new information about not only about your own breed but other breeds as well. I felt very fortunate to be able to clerk for Mr. Adkins who will talk and give explanations throughout his judging.

During lunch break I asked Mr. Adkins these questions:
1. Did you show in your youth?
   Answer: Mr. Adkins replied that he started showing poultry at the age of 13.
2. What breeds did you raise and show in your youth?
   Answer: He replied he had white Plymouth Rocks, light brown Leghorns, white Cochins, Anconas and silver-laced Wyandottes.
3. What made you decide to become a judge?
   Answer: He stated he had watched a lot of judging and he set his heart on being a judge.
4. Do you have a favorite breed?
   Answer: His favorite is the silver-laced Wyandotte.
5. How long did it take you to become a judge?
   Answer: Mr. Adkins stated that it took him three years and that he failed the first test.
6. What do you do to promote the poultry industry?
   Answer: He states that he teaches poultry seminars allover the U.S.
7. How many states and countries have you judged in?
   Answer: He says he has judged in 35 states, Australia and Canada.
8. What state do you enjoy judging the most?
   Answer: He says he likes judging in Montana and North Carolina because of the hospitality and the people.
9. What breeds of poultry do you now raise?
   Answer: I raise black Ameraucana’s, dark brown Leghorns, silver laced Wyandotte’s, buff Orpington’s and Dutch Bantams.
10. What classes of poultry are normally the largest?
    Answer: He replied that each state is different but usually the OEGB and the Rose Comb are the largest.
11. How hard was the test you took to become a judge?
    Answer: He says the test to become a judge was very hard. He also stated that you have to remember a lot of details for each breed and variety; such as, angle of tail and eye color.
12. Was the test written or oral?
    Answer: It was both, he stated. He did not have to judge a class of birds but did have to evaluate a couple of birds. He had two mentors while becoming a judge; Mr. Ken Cook and Mrs. Lewis Cunningham who are both judges in their own right.
13. Do you have a license to judge waterfowl?
    Answer: Yes, I have all of the licenses.
14. How many years have you been a poultry judge?
    Answer: He states he’s been a judge since 1994, fifteen years.
15. Do you have to attend judge’s seminars every year like the rabbit/cavy judges?
    Answer: No. Mr. Adkins thought that be a good idea though.
16. Have you ever developed a variety?
    Answer: No, Mr. Adkins has never developed a variety but has helped to continue to build varieties.
17. Do you ever look in the “Standard” for a particular breed when judging?
    Answer: Yes, says Mr. Adkins. He stated that he looks at the standard about 80% of the time.
18. What is the hardest breed to judge?
    Answer: He states that for him the Oriental breeds are the hardest to judge because he has not seen a lot of good ones.
19. Do other countries have their own version of the “Book of Standards”?
    Answer: Yes they do he states. Australia has just come out with their own book that has been a works in process for ten years. Before this time they had been using the “British Book of Standard”. Mr. Adkins stated that Canada would have 6,500 birds at their poultry shows. Other countries have breeds that are more popular than in the United States. (Article courtesy of the APA-ABA Youth program).
The show had approximately 1700 total birds: 1100 bantams, and almost 600 large fowl.

How It's All Laid Out:

Poultry shows are generally open to three types of fowl recognized by the American Poultry Association (APA) and the American Bantam Association (ABA). Each club has a book listing the breeds that are accepted by each association. The American Standard of Perfection published by the APA is one book and the Bantam Standard published by the ABA.

Turkeys and waterfowl are shown at most shows, but we will focus on chickens here, as they are by far the most common type of fowl at most shows.

It may appear at first glance that there are wall-to-wall chickens in no particular order. However, someone has worked hard to organize the birds. The pattern may not be apparent, but once you know what you are looking at, it will start to make sense.

Large Fowl or Bantam?

The first thing you may notice is that there are very large birds and very small birds. You might even notice that some look almost identical except for the size. The large birds are known as large fowl or standard size. The small birds are bantams, sometimes called "banties".

A few types of birds come only in large fowl or bantam, but most can be either. The relationship is similar to "toy" or miniature dogs and their "normal" size counterparts.

The goal is to have virtually the same bird, except for size. Typically large fowl will weigh in at 9 to 12 pounds while a bantam will weigh 2 to 3 pounds. Large fowl are the standard size for a chicken, but bantams are popular because they are smaller, easier to handle, take up less space, eat less food and still provide many of the benefits of owning chickens. In the show, large fowl and bantams will be shown separately.

Classes:

The next thing you may notice is that birds are broken down into classes.

For large fowl, the classes are named after the area of origin. You will notice an American Class, Asiatic Class, English Class, Mediterranean Class, Continental Class and an All Other Standard Breed Class.

For bantams, classes are named after physical characteristics. These include Game Bantams, Single Comb Clean Legged (S.C.C.L.), Rose Comb Clean Legged (R.C.C.L.), All Other Comb Clean Legged (A.O.C.C.L.), and Feather Legged Classes. Every breed will be listed in one and only one class.

Breed:

Within each class will be several breeds. Each breed will have specific characteristic(s) that differentiate it from all other breeds. One example of a breed is the Plymouth Rock. Breeds will differ in shape, feather characteristics, comb and other attributes.

Some breeds originated for meat production, some for egg production, others originated from Asian or European fighting cock stocks, while a few breeds were developed for ornamental qualities.

The Standard of Perfection and Bantam Standard will provide information on breeds, their characteristics and history.

Variety:

If you look at a breed you will find that there are often many color patterns represented, this color pattern is known by the term "variety". Both large and bantam Plymouth Rocks are recognized in each Standard in Barred, White, Buff, Silver Penciled, Partridge, Columbian, and Blue varieties. The black variety was recently admitted, but for Plymouth Rock bantams only. Each of these varieties has distinctive traits that set it apart from other varieties. You may find some of the same varieties appearing in a number of breeds, for example, there are also Buff Cochins, Buff Cornish and Buff Orpington’s as well as a few other breeds.

The Standard of Perfection will list the characteristics of each variety in large fowl and bantams and the Bantam Standard will list each characteristic in bantams.

Gender & Age:

Within each variety, birds will be divided based on sex and age. A cock (C) is a male bird over one year old while a cockerel (K) is a male bird under one year old. A hen (H) is a female over one year old while a pullet (P) is a female under one year old. Birds might also be placed in a trio, which will be either an old trio (2 hens and a cock) or a young trio (2 pullets and a cockerel).
Scoring Birds:
Judges score birds using a detailed point system that compares various physical points on each bird. Certain characteristics are disqualifications and preclude a bird from being considered for placing. The closer a bird approaches the standard, the more points they will score and the better their chances of placing. For more information on the point scale, see the Standard of Perfection published by the APA or the Bantam Standard published by the ABA. A copy should be available at the information desk at a show.

Placing:
Judges will review the birds and place the best specimens. The first step is to look at all of the pullets of one breed & variety and rank from first through third or fifth place. The same will be done with each age/gender group (cockerel’s, hens, cocks) and the coop cards will be marked with a 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 etc.

After all of the birds in a variety have been judged, the official will select the best out of the whole group and second best representative of the variety and mark them Best of Variety (BV) or Reserve of Variety (RV).

After all of the varieties of a breed have been judged for Best and Reserve, the official will pick from those birds the two that best represent the breed and will mark them Best of Breed (BB) and Reserve of Breed (RB).

After all of the breeds in a class have been judged, the official will place a Best and Reserve in the whole class from the Best and Reserve of Breeds these are then marked as Class Champion or Reserve Class Champion.

Typically a show will have a Champion Row where the best bird in each class is displayed. From the birds placed on Champion Row, the judges will select a Champion Large Fowl, and Champion Bantam. Finally a Grand Champion, or Best Bird of Show, may be selected from among the best of the waterfowl, turkeys and chickens.

Judges:
The judges of a show are licensed either by the American Poultry Association or the American Bantam Association (or both). The licensing process requires years of practice, an apprentice-ship, and passage of a strenuous written and practical test. Judges are poultry fanciers who have taken the hobby to its full extent and are a wealth of knowledge. It is considered good etiquette not to talk with or interfere with a judge while they are judging.

What if a Bird is Not in the Standard?
There are many breeds, varieties or hybrids that are not recognized in the APA or ABA standards. (If they are not of a recognized breed, they may be placed but cannot win champion if they are entered into a show.) If the standard of perfection for the breed has not been officially determined, there are no standards by which a bird can be judged.

To be admitted into the APA standard, a breed must have several supporters that have been working with it for at least 5 years and are able to have a minimum of 50 birds exhibited at a show. If all of these conditions are met, a breed or variety may be admitted to the standard and written up in the Standard of Perfection. It will be eligible to compete in shows from that point forward.
REFLECTIONS OF THE APPRENTICE PROGRAM
By Pat Malone,
A.P.A. General License #1,087

I remember the events like they happened yesterday. I drove about one hundred miles to a one-day poultry show to exhibit my birds and to clerk for a judge as part of the A.B.A. apprentice program. The first problem occurred almost immediately. The judge started on the Single Comb Rhode Island Red bantams, about sixty birds in all as I recall. After working the class, he marked two birds, both males, as BV. When this was called to his attention, he corrected it by marking still a third bird, a pullet, as BV. Things went down hill from there. To say it was a loooonnnnggg day would be the understatement of the year. I watched that judge make just about every stupid, ridiculous mistake that it is possible for a judge to make. The only positive thing I could honestly say was that he had not been drinking. I have never seen so many unhappy exhibitors before or since that day. As I gathered up my birds and said my farewells to fellow exhibitors, I was seething inside.

I started for home thinking, “I have absolutely wasted a whole day of my life. I came here to learn, and all I learned was what NOT to do.” As I drove back to Ft. Worth I reviewed the day, event by crazy event, in my mind. Slowly, it began to dawn on me that I had learned some very valuable lessons. NEVER, EVER would I make the ridiculous mistakes I watched him make that day. I would be extra careful to concentrate on my task and avoid careless mistakes and foolish decisions that could never be justified by the Standard of Perfection. By the time I arrived home, I had a change of heart about the day I had experienced. I was ready to go back, hug his neck, and thank him for teaching me WHAT NOT TO DO. That day truly was a valuable learning experience, even though what I learned was not what was intended by the apprentice program.

You may think that I am negative toward the apprentice program. I am not! I am very positive toward the apprentice program, and I personally feel a very strong responsibility to help judge license candidates today as I was helped back in the early 80’s when the apprentice program was first established. I also realize that not every judge (1) wants to work with apprentices in the judge license program and/or (2) has the ability to be an effective teacher of judge candidates. Of the eight judges I worked with in the A.B.A. apprentice program and the six judges I worked with in the A.P.A. apprentice program, only three were effective teachers. Even though I could get credit for these three only once, I worked with these judges at every opportunity to learn as much as I could from them. Eugene Barnard can judge and talk a blue streak at the same time about what he is seeing as he judges, and he knows what he is talking about.

I realize that there are other variables in the process as well. For example, if I am going to handle two hundred birds at a show I have a lot more time to work with a judge candidate than if I am expected to handle four hundred fifty birds in a day. So with all of the above in mind I suggest the following two things for consideration. I realize that many other ideas could be mentioned, but here are two that I think are important.

First, we need every A.P.A. judge to declare whether or not they are willing to work with judge license candidates. No one should feel any pressure to do so! It should be strictly voluntary! But we need to know who is willing and who doesn’t want to participate. Sam has asked us to help him supply up-to-date information to poultry shows by declaring what we can and cannot do.

And if you say “yes, I am willing to work with judge license candidates” then expect to be held accountable for your behavior when doing so. I have in my hand an e-mail dated January 30th, 2003, from an apprentice, reporting a very negative experience working with a well known judge. “He missed judging a trio that I knew he did but I was afraid to tell him in fear he would either hit me or swear at me again. If I had started the program with him I would have probably quit. I know that sounds stupid, but why put myself in that position. I honestly felt abused, but it was senseless to say anything. And let’s face it, it’s my word against his.” Granted, I have only heard one side of the story, but if this kind of behavior did take place, it cannot be tolerated, and I think it calls for action from the Judge License Committee. If you don’t want to work with judge candidates, say so. If you say you are willing, (1) take the task seriously and (2) treat apprentices with dignity and respect.

Second, apprentice judges should be strongly encouraged to work with judges who are not judging whenever possible, rather than always clerking for judges who are judging. In some areas of this country this is fairly easy to do, and in other areas it would be difficult. That’s why I say “whenever possible” because I realize it is not always possible. For me to do this means me giving up social time with my friends at that show. But the apprentice program is that important to me. When I said “yes, I will help,” that didn’t mean I will help if I don’t have something better to do.

If we want more effective, qualified A.P.A. judges, we need to do everything possible to make training for our apprentices the very best it can be. What suggestions do you have to make our training program more effective?

ABA News

Try as I may - I cannot stop time from speeding up. I speak with bantam folks all across the country and they all say the same thing, so I know it is not just me.

The ABA is alive and well. We are holding membership numbers steady and even slightly on the upswing. This is all a wonderful sign of interest in our hobby and that should make us all very happy. If you have not had a chance to visit our website, you should check it out at www.bantamclub.com. There are places to chat, advertise and even to download important show papers. There is a very up to date event list too.

Matt Lhamon and Eric Purrington keep this updated as best we can. If you have suggestions or any questions, please do not be shy. Send them in. If it is something that we all may find useful, I may include it in an upcoming newsletter.

Every week is an adventure in the ABA and this next month will be no exception. We are preparing for our 2010 national Meet in Columbus Ohio and hope you are too. We will be offering some awesome birds at the Breeders Auction. Thanks goes to Mike Johnson of Colorado for volunteering to help man this area on the day of the show.

There is nothing more exhausting than a National meet - but also nothing more exciting when you are talking about showing your bantams. I will be packing extra vitamins and trying to get extra shuteye this month in preparation. I hope to meet alot of you newcomers in Columbus so don't be a stranger.

By now all candidates for elections positions of the ABA have been received. You will see ballot sometime in December. They will be sent to all individual paid up ABA members who are members as of December 1st. Thank you to all who have served in the past and to all those who will serve in the future.

Your Fall quarterlies will be arriving soon in your mailboxes. It is chock full of news so don't miss it. Special thanks goes to all our members who have chosen to take their newsletters electronically. It really helps the ABA out in so many ways.

In no time at all, we will be getting ready to meet again in Delaware a the Delmarva Poultry Fanciers show in Harrington Delaware. Hope to see you there.

I must sign off and save it all for the quarterly so enjoy the shows as much as your birds.

Dear ABA Members,

On November 13th and 14th, the Ohio National, America’s largest annual show, will host our National Meet, which promises to be a big one. Eric Markley, the show secretary, informs me that entries are filling his mail box daily and that 185 rooms have been reserved by poultry people.

Our Directors’ meeting will take place Friday evening; we have an ambitious agenda. Mike Stickler, an ABA member who attended the recent NPIP convention as a voting member of NPIP, will give his report to our Board of Directors. Mike will also be at the show all weekend to answer any questions you may have regarding the NPIP. Our general membership meeting will be held Saturday afternoon. If you can’t attend this meeting and have questions or issues you would like to have discussed, please contact me or your Director.

The ABA is still looking for individuals interested in running for office; deadline is November 1st.

Hope to see you all in November at the big show.

Jeff Halbach
ABA President

News From The Ohio National

The entries are rolling in, we do not have a final tally as of just yet but the total entries will be between 6,000 and 7,000 birds in attendance for the 2010 Ohio National show. So this year’s Ohio National will be the largest American Bantam Association National Meet ever held in the history of the American Bantam Association.

Once again it is time to set up the Ohio National Show. Set up will happen on November 6th at the Voinovich Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds starting at 9:00 AM. All you will need to bring is a pair of gloves, there is work for young and old, tall or short. The Ohio National will provide lunch for everyone in the work party. So make plans to make a day of it.

Deadline for show results, advertisements, and articles for the December 2010 issue is November 24th.

APA MISSION STATEMENT

To promote and protect the standard-bred poultry industry in all its phases.

To continue the publication of the American Standard of Perfection with the breed and variety descriptions for all the recognized purebred fowl.

To encourage and protect poultry shows as being the show window of our industry, and education for both breeders and public, and a means of interesting young future breeders in taking up poultry.

To assist, encourage, and help educate the junior poultry man to the sound and practical value of standard-bred poultry, and pure breeding.

Toward these goals the APA supports sanctioned meets at poultry shows all over the US and Canada, including an Annual meet and a Semi-Annual meet. Individual members can earn points at these shows toward becoming a Master Exhibitor as well as receiving awards from the association.

The APA publishes a quarterly newsletter and an annual yearbook. The newsletter is sent to all members and the yearbook is sent to individual members and Endowment Trust members. The yearbook features many different articles, membership listings, advertisements, APA licensed judges and master exhibitor information.
